To whom it may concern:

I am writing to endorse Cedric Honnet. Cedric has been working with Sifteo since December 2012 in software engineering and device prototyping, and has successfully completed several projects under the supervision of myself and the Sifteo engineering team.

I have been impressed by Cedric's enthusiasm and scrappiness from the first meeting onward. He absolutely loves hacking and building, and is not afraid to dive into new projects and large codebases. At Sifteo he has often been the last person in the office late into the evening, preferring to keep pushing to fix difficult bugs before calling it a night - a dedication to his craft that I greatly admire.

Cedric's technical capabilities and strong dedication to build with technology will make him a strong contributor to any team he is a part of.

Sincerely,
